DESCRIPTION

Named after one of the islands in the Venetian Lagoon, this console would be equally at home in a hallway, bedroom or living room as a dressing vanity, or even as a stylish serving table. Meant to rest against a wall, its elegant silhouette features a top with a curved frame and four saber legs that bend inward in a slightly concave shape before jutting out to a slightly tapered, raised foot. The single front drawer is graced with a decorative butterfly that complements the exquisite mauve color of the piece. This table can be customized in size and color at customers' request.
