EDIE BOWL

$3,515

DESCRIPTION

Edie Sedgwick was the muse of Andy Warhol, a symbol of the 1960s, always wearing oversized earrings and black socks. Elena Cutolo, talented designer trained under the guidance of Ettore Sottsass, has imagined a pair of vases and a large bowl inspired by Edie's wardrobe and jewellery collection. This is how the family was born: Edie '60 is a vase with earrings available in limited edition of nine pieces, Edie is the vase without earrings while the Edie Bowl is a large centrepiece. Edie Bowl – available in the following colours: blue / green lagoon / mediterranean blue with emerald green rim – is made of Murano blown glass decorated with a vaguely geometric pattern. Surprising, in their own way, they are a great example of contemporary creativity rooted in a long tradition of design and craft. Available in blue, green lagoon, mediterranean blue with emerald green rim.
