ELEMENTA FRUIT HOLDER

$720

DESCRIPTION

This unique piece was designed by Riccardo Bastiani and is created as a centerpiece to hold fruit and other everyday foods on a dining table, but it can also be a striking base to display other items in an entryway or living room. Its conic central structure in plain varnished iron supports a brass external ring on which a series of elements around its perimeter stem vertically, holding the content in. Inspired by the modern concept and design of a gear, this piece will bring an innovative touch to the table.
