LUTETIA ALUMINUM JAR BY ELENA CUTOLO

$965

DESCRIPTION

A dynamic interplay of unconventional materials and shapes, this dainty aluminum jar embodies subtle elegance and timeless style. Fashioned of aluminum using traditional production processes, the jar is dedicated to La Brasserie du Lutétia, the restaurant in Paris where James Joyce famously composed Ulysees while Ernest Hemingway played billiards. The modern silhouette has a tall grey cylinder topped with a removable lid composed of a pink trapezoid hallowed out by a circular cut. This eclectic jar can be arranged with other pieces from the Paris in the Twenties Collection for a complete look.
