DESCRIPTION

This spectacular work of art was crafted of glazed porcelain, its classical-inspired design was taken from the inventory of Richard Ginori's manufactory in Doccia, Tuscany. Dated between 1780 and 1791, this striking scene was crafted as a mold by the Florentine artisans of the time. The Renaissance style, inspired by a model by Flemish sculptor Giambologna, is evident in the curls of the pedestal and in the dynamic pose of the god Mercury depicted above. This sublime decorative piece will be a visually stunning addition to any interior.
