PRIMITIVO STOOL

DESCRIPTION

The name of this elegantly crafted stool recalls the territory from where it originates, Puglia, one of the most fascinating places in the Mediterranean. The painted steel structure is comprised of two crossing elements, supporting a round seat in natural oak wood. The steel connects to the wood through four grooves, each one equally distant from the next around the perimeter of the seat's edges. The industrial finish of the metal stands out against the wood which is in its natural state with its veins and imperfections still visible. This minimalist stool makes a striking statement in any room of the home.
