TRIPOLINA 1885 SUEDE ARMCHAIR

DESCRIPTION

The Tripolina armchair was first designed in 1855 by J.B. Fenby and crafted by Italian workshops, especially for Italian troops in Libya, where the folding mechanism and the sturdy structure were ideal for the sandy landscape. This modern interpretation is made by hand of fine solid ash with a teak stain, while the cream-colored fabric (50% cotton and 50% jute) boasts a suede trim. The seat is comfortably set at 32cm height. This sophisticated piece will be a stunning addition to a rustic living room or a modern study and can be combined with others in different colors.
